Jorns willing to step down before July

President says he will leave early if successor wants to get started

By Tammie Sloup

Eastern's President David Jorns Wednesday agreed to step down from his position sooner than his previously announced retirement date if a new president is named and willing to begin earlier than June 30.

"Dr. Jorns has graciously indicated his willingness to relinquish the presidency if the new president is identified and does take office prior to June 30," said Tom Johnson, vice chair of Eastern's Board of Trustees, in a press release.

Jorns' agreement with the BOT took place in executive session during a teleconference meeting.

The formal agreement means a new president may take over prior to June 30 and not that a new president will take over sooner than the previously announced retirement date, a press release said.

Johnson said the agreement is

Student Senate OKs fee hikes

By Joe Sanner

The Student Senate Wednesday passed six student fee increase proposals, raising student fees $27.45, and discussed another possible 3 percent tuition increase proposal.

The proposals will now go to the President's Council for approval.

The proposal to increase the athletic fee by $6 was passed by a 20-2-7 vote. The fee is currently $42.55 and would be raised to $48.55 per semester.

Athletic Director Rich McDuffie said the money from the athletic fee would go to meeting the Associate VP search leaves students out

Faculty say internal governing policy has been violated again

By Tammie Sloup
Administration editor

For at least the second time in one year, a student representative has been absent from a major search committee for an administrative position.

Concern was raised at the last Faculty Senate meeting regarding the lack of student representation on the associate vice president for academic affairs search committee.

Senate member John Allison said the committee was violating Eastern's Internal Governing Policy by not appointing a student on the committee.

Mark Bettinger, a senior zoology and chemistry major, leads a group of over 50 students in prayer Wednesday at 7 a.m. The students said several prayers and ended with the popular hymn, Amazing Grace. The meeting titled, "See You at the Flag Pole," has happened for several years on the third Wednesday of the month of September.

Praying for religious freedom

Students gather to take part in annual national tradition

By Amy Thon
Campus editor

Before most of the university had gotten out of bed Wednesday, a group of 50 students were gathered at the South Quad flag pole.

"See You at the Flag Pole" is an annual event held on campuses all over the country as a way to pray for the United States and practice religious freedom.

Students gathered at precisely 7:30 a.m. Wednesday in the South Quad.

Sherri Grissom, a sophomore elementary education major and coordinator of Eastern's event, said the students were there to make a statement for God.

"It is a national thing all over the United States at 7 a.m.," Grissom said. "It's just a day set aside for the Lord and as a symbol to everyone else."

Don Finely, a senior English major, said it is encouraging to know people all over the nation are doing the same thing.

"There are other young people all over the country gathered here today," Finely said. "It tells me that young people from junior high on up are not ashamed of the gospel."

The students prayed for the campus, the country and the president.

"We came out to pray for the country and let everyone know we are Christians. We pray for President Clinton in particular and for all leaders," said Mark Bettinger, senior zoology major.

Bettinger has been attending the event for eight years; since he was a sophomore in high school. In the four years he has attended the service at Eastern, he said the prayer service has grown.

"It seems like it's been growing year by year," Bettinger said.

department has an agreement with the Office of Civil Rights to maintain a women's rugby team and to meet other gender and equity requirements.

"Rugby was created without adequate funding," he said. "Our objective is to get the basic budget for women's rugby up to $30,000. Right now it's at $10,000.

"We have to keep women's rugby," he said. "If we don't, the Office of Civil Rights can cut off federal funding to the university."

A proposal to raise the computer technology fee by $3 also was passed unanimously by the Senate. The fee is currently $25 and would be increased to $28 per semester.

Keith Cosentino, speaker of the senate, said the majority of the money from the increase would go toward funding the 24-hour computer labs.

A proposal for an $8.75 grant-in-aid fee increase was approved unanimously by the Senate. The fee would be raised from $47.85 to $56.60 per semester.

McDuffie said the increase is desperately needed, but it still may not be enough in the long run and an additional increase may be needed next year.

"Depending on what kind of progress we make in funding, that's a possibility," he said. "We're not asking for money without doing our own part."

The grant-in-aid fee does not only go to the athletic department, but also is used for scholarships in other departments as well.

The proposal for a $3.70 increase in the Health Services fee was approved unanimously by the Senate. The fee would be increased from $32.30 to $36 per semester.

The increase would be used for equipment costs, medical supplies and salaries.

The proposal to raise the textbook rental fee $3 was passed with no discussion from the senate by a vote of 23-2-4.

The fee is currently at $72 and would be raised to $75.

A proposal to increase the student pharmacy fee by $3 passed by a vote of 19-10. The fee is currently at $6.50 and would increase to $9.50.

The increase would go to enabling the pharmacy to continue offering pharmaceuticals at lower prices.

The pharmacy currently charges students their cost plus $2 for prescription drugs.

"The students I've talked to say the generic drugs have saved them up to 60 percent in some cases," said Justin Brinkmeyer, a Senate member.

Lou Hencken, vice president for student affairs, spoke to Senate members about a possible proposal of a 3 percent tuition increase that would begin next year.

The increase would not affect students currently at Eastern, but would be phased in beginning with next year's freshmen.

Hencken said the money would be used for classroom renovations,

Resolution calls for student vote on biological sciences committee

By Joe Sanner

Student government editor

The Student Senate Wednesday withdrew a resolution regarding the Biological Sciences Department's curriculum committee.

The resolution, written by Kevin Franken, a senior environmental biology major, and submitted by Academic Chair Michelle Gillette, asked that the Biological Sciences Curriculum Committee meetings be open to the public and that there be voting student members on the committee.

The resolution was withdrawn after much discussion because of its confusing nature and to give senate members a chance to research other department curriculum committees.

"There are other departmental curriculum committees that do have voting student members," Franken said.

Bud Fischer, environmental biology coordinator, said the committee has student advisor members, but voting student members are not necessary.

"The majority don't (have student voting members) in most cases," he said. "That would destroy the whole system."

Once curriculum proposals are passed by the committee, they go to the Council on Academic Affairs for approval, Fischer said. CAA meetings are open to the public.

Senate member Justin Brinkmeyer, who also serves as one of three voting student members on the CAA, said it is not the students' responsibility to decide what their curriculum will be.

"It is not the students' curriculum," Brinkmeyer said. "Curriculum is the university's concern; it's the faculty's concern."

"We are consumers and it is up to us whether or not we want to buy their product," he said. "The students do have a voice on the Council on Academic Affairs."

instructional equipment and faculty salaries.

"We will be able to offer more classes," he said. "One thing we're being told is it is hard to get classes."

Hencken said many of the classrooms are in need of renovations.

"I took a tour of the science building and saw a crack down the middle of a classroom," he said. "That's the kind of money this should go for."

"By the time it's in its first year, the theory is there will be more classes and renovations be done."

"The position of associate vice president for academic affairs (is) administratively oriented, and it is likely that the person appointed to the position will deal much more with administrators, faculty and staff than with students," said Ted Ivarie, chair of the search committee, through an e-mail.

According to Policy 12 in Eastern's Internal Governing Policies, "The appropriate Vice President or other designated line supervisor shall appoint the members of screening committees for administrative positions Level

Three to Level Five. The same general guidelines for configuring screening committees outlined for Level One and Two shall be followed as appropriate. Faculty, administrators, civil service staff and students shall be represented."

Allison said, during the Senate meeting, (the oversight) needs to be brought to the attention of the university because it is a violation of the Internal Governing Policy. "It is a slap in the face (for students) if there is no effort," he later said.

Gary Foster, senate member and member of the search committee, said at the meeting that Teshome Abebe, vice president for academic affairs, addressed the issue of no student representation but the search is already on the "fast track."

Ivarie expressed that he did not think a student would be appointed to the committee at this point. "It is unlikely that there will be a student on the committee at this point. The committee has completed its review of applications, and candidates have been invited to interview," he said.

This situation also occurred in September 1997 when a search committee for the assistant vice president for business affairs did not have a student representative.

The Faculty Senate agreed the Internal Governing Policies had been violated then because a list of potential search committee members was not circulated to campus prior to finalization.

done with the "mutual respect" and relationship between Dr. Jorns and the university."

Following the unanimously approved vote, Jorns said in a press release: "This agreement will help ensure a smooth transition for me, my successor and the university. I appreciate the gesture of affection and regard from the Board of Trustees."

Shelly Flock, director of media relations, said she believed the agreement might have been brought up because the search has been progressing faster than anticipated. "It's a possibility that (the search committee) may be bringing candidates on campus before the end of the fall semester," she said.

She said she does not know for sure if Jorns was unavailable for comment.

TO ALL RUSHEES:

The time has come for you to make possibly the most important decision of your college career, or what we would consider the most important decision of your life - because we are of a lifelong commitment. Most of you are new at EIU, and it may be hard for you to see through the circus that some organizations call RUSH. We are interested in meeting you, and the brothers of our chapter will honestly answer any questions you have to offer. We may not hand out cups, huggies, or key chains. We may not have the largest rush ad, but if we did, we certainly wouldn't be concerned enough about another organization to mention them in it. We may not pick you up in a limousine, but we will gladly have one of our brothers come and pick you up in their own car. We may not have a commercial on television, but we do have rush ads in the paper along with posters on campus to keep you informed of our rush events. We may not have a live band, because we see that as a distraction from getting to know you, as well as you getting to know us. We also refuse to partake in these activities because they are costly, and we prefer to spend our funds on other activities, such as functions with sororities. We are one of the few organizations that have been able to function on a regular basis because we conduct ourselves in a manner which has prevented our chapter from being on social or any other type of probation.

Aside from that, it may be easy for other organizations to mislead you, because as a rushee, you don't know the facts. For any organization to say that they advanced to the championship round in every major IM event last year is anything but the truth. The fact of the matter is, we won the overall intramural trophy last year, and the last 10 out of 14 years. However, social and intramurals are only some of the activities that we excel in. The active chapter was ranked first last semester in our overall grade point average.

The main reason why we excel in so many areas is not merely coincidence, but our brotherhood. Our brotherhood is second to none, but that's not something that can be understood by writing about it on this piece of paper. If any of the above mentioned - social, intramurals, academics, and brotherhood interest you, we encourage you to come meet the men of Sigma Chi.

Eastern in top 30 percent of national 'top college list'

By Jessica Sedgwick
Staff writer

Eastern has been ranked 35th out of 123 Midwestern regional universities on the 1999 U.S. News & World Report's "America's Best Colleges List."

"I think our academic reputation speaks highly to the quality of the faculty," said Teshome Abebe, vice president for academic affairs.

In the category of public and private Midwestern schools, Eastern was judged on six components: academic reputation, retention and graduation rates, faculty resources, student selectivity, financial resources and alumni giving rate. "Our students need to be happy with the quality of teachers in our classrooms," Abebe said.

He said academic reputation has three important criteria: Quality of faculty, a learning/teaching experience and the quality of programs faculty design.

"It is essential that we're not very happy and satisfied about this," he said. "We need to continue to examine the curriculum we have in place. We need to examine the teaching and make sure it is not only complete but also rewarding to our students," Abebe said.

Morgan Olsen, vice president for business affairs, said the reason for recognition in the area of financial resources is that "Eastern provides high quality education at a low cost."

Olsen said Eastern needs to do several things to maintain its reputation.

"What we need to do as an institution is balance quality, affordability and access."

Other important needs include faculty compensation and maintenance, Olsen said.

"We also need to look at how we compete with other schools. And we need to maintain our enrollment, in fact, cut it off as early as we do in the spring," Olsen said.

Lou Hencken, vice president for student affairs, attributes such high recognition for retention and graduation rates to Eastern's 70 percent graduation rate.

He also said the services Eastern has to offer play an important role. "I think there are a lot of services available on campus," Hencken said. "Small classes to offer and faculty members as opposed to assistants teaching classes. Most classes are pretty small and intimate."

Hencken also said Eastern has an "excellent" housing program. "Statistics will tell you nationally that students who live in housing their first two years have a much higher chance in graduating in four years," he said.

However, Hencken said there are three things Eastern needs to put their energy into: "Never be satisfied with what we have, realize that students are changing and always find ways to improve the school."

"The recognition acknowledges continued efforts by the university's faculty and staff to provide quality education to our students," said Jill Nilsen, acting vice president for external relations, in a press release. "We are pleased Eastern Illinois University continues to rank consistently above the median in this survey."

BOT chair steps down from presidential search

Gilpin cites illness; vice president to take her place on committee

By Tammie Sloup
Administration editor

Susan Gilpin, chair of Eastern's Board of Trustees, Wednesday relinquished her position as chair of the campus presidential search committee because of "personal 'short-term' and 'non-life-threatening' health issues."

Gilpin appointed BOT Vice Chair Tom Johnson to chair the committee. "I expect to return to full health soon," Gilpin said.

Gilpin announced Johnson's appointment during a BOT teleconference meeting. She said she appointed Johnson because he has worked with searches in the past.

"We have a very good committee ... it's going to be a successful search," she said.

Jan Greenwood of Heidrick and Struggles, the search firm hired by Eastern's BOT to assist an 11-member campus search committee in finding the university's next president, conducted the forums and relayed feedback from the forum to Gilpin.

Gilpin said there was "no negative feedback" regarding the forum. She also said the official description of the next president will be released to all candidates.

The description includes the responsibilities of the presidential position. The list of responsibilities includes: Developing and directing the long-range and strategic planning for the University, lead fundraising efforts and increase campus diversity at all levels of participation by attracting and retaining a culturally diverse faculty, staff and student body. Candidates also must have senior level administrative experience and a proven track record in leadership, management and resource development.

The description includes certain personal characteristics such as an outgoing personality and positive attitude with the ability to communicate effectively both orally and in writing.

The board also unanimously approved a request for a professional off-campus non-degree seeking student category along with a $10 registration fee.

"These are specifically development courses," said Teshome Abebe, vice president for academic affairs.

The program will cater to people in business or industry professions who would like to enhance their business, Abebe said. The program is designed for people who are not looking to earn a degree or be enrolled in the institution.

The courses will fall under the Graduate School and the School of Adult and Continuing Education, Abebe said.

There is no cost to the university because the registration fee will pay for the program, he said. Existing faculty will teach the courses and their salary will be generated from the fees.

Abbe said there is no course agenda for students but the university will seek out who is interested and what they are interested in and design the course schedule around information they receive.

The program is open only to non-degree students, he said.

The board also unanimously approved two purchase items, a five year lease of a digital printer and 13 Minolta Micro DAX 3000 scanners and software systems.

The rental of a digital printer for printing services will cost $500,000 and there is no cost for the first year of the lease, said Morgan Olsen, vice president for business affairs.

"The cost is variable based upon production," he said.

Olsen said the estimated cost is $478,000 but wanted to provide "flexibility" for production rates.

The current printer has reached the end of its lease and has been "problematic," he said.

The new printer will be more cost effective and will feature additional functions that the current printer does not have. He said the estimated savings would be between $25,000 and $30,000 a year.

"The machine has capabilities not duplicated anywhere else in the marketplace," he said.

Some of the capabilities include electronic submission, document storage, print on demand, expanded assembly and editing capabilities.

Olsen said there was a two-month trial period with the new printer and it was located in the Student Services building.

The cost of the scanners is $244,010 and is covered by a grant given to the Council of Directors of State University Libraries in Illinois from the Illinois State Library, Olsen said. The scanners would be distributed to 12 other universities within Illinois and will "allow the libraries to digitize microforms and distribute them via the Internet," Olsen said.

Take action; lower bar age

Lowering Charleston's bar-entry age from 21 to 19 is far from a done deal. But the possibility is definitely there to give Eastern's under-21 population a few nightlife options.

It won't happen without a huge base of support — and action — from the student body.

Hopefully, Eastern's 19- and 20-year-olds will offer the same effort they exert when they head home or go to Champaign on the weekends.

Lowering the bar-entry age would be the Charleston City Council's call in the end because it would involve changing an ordinance. But the community's opinion on the matter could be assessed with a referendum in the city's April elections.

Lower bar-entry age

In order to have a larger chance of receiving a 19-year-old bar-entry age, the students must take action for their own benefit.

To vote in that election and take a side on that referendum, students first would need to be registered to vote — in Coles County. Second, they would need to actually go out and go through the motions of voting.

You could practically count on one hand the number of Eastern students who voted in Charleston's last election. If this new bar-entry crusade pans out, however, Eastern's campus should have the motivation to flood the polling places in April.

Student Body President Steve Zielinski is leading an adamant charge to allow Charleston bars to admit 19- and 20-year-olds. It's an answer to four years of Eastern students' complaining about a lack of bar alternatives and not getting them.

Many bar owners agree that a lower bar-entry age would help business in the city, from their own establishments to the places serving food after the bars close. Aside from these business owners, however, not too many Charleston residents will be clambering to join the fight for the 19-year-olds' bar-going rights.

So, those who like the idea of seeing the bar-entry age lowered should plan on actively supporting the effort. No one else is going to do it for you.

Pemberton is not a logical move

For most students on campus, whether first-semester freshman or on-the-way-out seniors, Pemberton Hall is a symbol of Eastern tradition. As a registered historical landmark, it is the oldest female residence hall in the state of Illinois and has been able to maintain this claim for 90 years. Yet, all that might change next fall if the administration of the Eastern Honors Program has its way. Possibly as early as the fall of 1999, Pemberton Hall may open its doors to both male and female honors students.

The reasoning behind this proposed change to Pemberton Hall is ridiculous. Herbert Lasky, director of the honors program, said that McKinney Hall is too small to accommodate the honors students and suggested Pemberton Hall would be an ideal new home for students in the honors program since it is closer to the Honors Office and Textbook Rental. Are these truly valid reasons to break a 90-year tradition?

The honors program already has claimed one residence hall as its own: McKinney Hall. It seems a bit unnecessary that honors students are given their own residence hall not merely in an "honors" residence hall. However, the honors administration holds the elitist opinion that honors students deserve more privileges than other students, including early registration, special sections of honors classes and now a co-ed honors Pemberton Hall. If it is indeed necessary to house the honors students in their own exclusive building on campus, so be it. But not in Pemberton Hall.

According to the Friday edition of The Daily Eastern News, Lasky said to honors students in a letter that "Pemberton will remain a women's residence hall this year while plans are made final to open part of Pemberton Hall to men beginning August 1999." Interestingly, in the same article, Vice President for Student Affairs Lou Hencken was quoted saying, "I think it's still being debated. I don't think the final decision has been made."

It appears the administration has a communication problem, not just with the student body in this matter but among themselves as well. Lasky is making unfair promises to honors students when it is not solely his decision as to which building he wishes to claim for his program.

This proposed change is not a done deal, especially since I do not recall any student suggestions, previous information or a chance to vote on this matter. Lasky fails to realize this decision does not just concern the agenda of his honors program. This change would dislocate a group of students who consider Pemberton Hall their home in addition to destroying long-standing tradition of Eastern and throughout the state. This proposed idea is an insult to me and it should be to other students as well. It bluntly states that the education of honors students is more important than the education of everyone else. Let's face it; do honors students need to go to Textbook Rental any more than the rest of the student body?

I do not advocate relocating any group of students from their halls; however, if McKinney Hall is indeed too small to house the vast numbers of honors students, I propose this: why not phase in the Gregg Triad as an honors complex? Honors students have already been moved into Ford Hall to compensate for the overflow of honors students from McKinney Hall. According to the Housing Office, both McKinney and Ford halls are already co-ed halls and both have the capacity to house 150 students each, therefore housing 85 more students than Pemberton Hall. If Pemberton was chosen for its abundance of space, by Housing Office statistics it appears Ford and McKinney halls have more to offer (unless I have forgotten my grade school math).

The Gregg Triad is also centrally located on campus, much closer to the library than any other residence hall, and a 24-hour computer lab is slated to be installed in the former dining services building. Wouldn't this be more academically fruitful for honors students? Then again, the Gregg Triad certainly is not as picturesque as Pemberton Hall in promoting the honors program.

The honors program, which was only established in 1982, has not contributed significantly enough to Eastern to warrant the acquisition of such a building as Pemberton Hall and the destruction of 90 years worth of tradition. I encourage students who agree to contact either myself or the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs.

Pem residents protect home away from home

This January, Pemberton Hall will be commemorating its 90th year as the oldest women's residence hall in the state of Illinois. As residents, we are all proud of this anniversary and the status of the hall. Not only is Pemberton Hall an important part of proposal to move the honors hall from McKinney and Ford halls to Pemberton Hall, but this move, on the whole, has not been welcomed with open arms from the students of both these halls. Pemberton Hall has become "home" to those of us who live here. We do not want to be moved from our "home."

Letters to the editor

Mu. It was founded with the purpose of allowing the women of Pemberton Hall to serve its residents, community and campus. If honors students are allowed to move into Pemberton Hall, then what will become of the service sorority that can not exist without the hall?

We hope that with these ideas in mind, the committee that decides the fate of Pemberton Hall will see how much pride we have in our hall. Please, take into consideration that you would be asking the residents of these three halls to move once again from their "home."

Letter policy

The Daily Eastern News accepts letters to the editor addressing local, state, national and international issues.

They should be less than 250 words and include the author's name, telephone number and address. Students should indicate their year, school and major. Faculty, administration and staff should indicate their position and department. Letters whose authors cannot be verified will not be printed.

Depending on space constraints we may have to edit your letter, so keep it as concise as possible.

County Police may be funded without taxpayer dollars

Plan would require a 46-bed addition to Coles County Jail

By Nicole Meinheit
City editor

The Coles County Sheriff's Office hopes to fund the entire Sheriff's Police budget by holding inmates for the Department of Immigration and Naturalization. Currently the Coles County is holding 48 Department of Immigration and Naturalization inmates and receives $50 a day per prisoner from the federal government.

The proposed plan would increase the number of inmates in the Department of Immigration and Naturalization to 100 and generate about $1.9 million a year in revenue.

"If they are going to pay money and they are going to send inmates somewhere, it might as well be Coles County," said Jim Kimball, Coles County sheriff. The $1.9 million would increase the yearly budget of $1.6 million they receive from the county, Kimball said.

He said he believes Coles County is the only county in Illinois that has a budget funded completely without taxpayer dollars.

"We're really excited about the possibility and what it can do for Coles County with the added income," Kimball said.

He said he believes the money the county had spent on the Sheriff's Police yearly budget could be redirected to other county organizations.

To hold more Department of Immigration and Naturalization inmates the Coles County Jail would have to be expanded, Kimball said.

The jail, which holds a maximum capacity of 135 inmates, is currently holding 106 inmates for both Coles County and the Department of Immigration and Naturalization.

In Kimball's recommendation, a 46 bed addition would be added to the east side of the jail which is currently a parking lot, Kimball said.

"Four years ago (an addition) was done without any major changing of the prison," Kimball said. "Only a wall was removed."

Kimball's recommendation would not create any problems with parking, he said.

No architect plans have been drawn up, but Kimball estimates the addition would cost $1.4 million.

Kimball said the money for the new addition could be raised by selling bonds, the same way the last jail expansion was paid for.

The possible site of construction to the Coles County Jail at 701 7th St. has been proposed to happen on the east side of the building by Coles County Sheriff Jim Kimball.

The Department of Immigration and Naturalization inmates are serving time for crimes they committed while in the United States. If the United States does not have diplomatic relations with the country the inmates are from, they have to be kept in the United States, Kimball said.

The Department of Immigration and Naturalization inmates stay in Coles County for an indefinite amount of time and their sentences are determined by the federal government, Kimball said.

Coles County Police have a verbal agreement with the Department of Immigration and Naturalization to hold 100 inmates, Kimball said.

They are waiting until Oct. 1 when the federal government begins its new fiscal year for confirmation of the plans, Kimball said.

"I'd like to see (construction) start as soon as possible," Kimball said.

A Mexican Elvis to take the stage

El Vez, the Blazers to play Dvorak tonight

By Laura Irvine
Staff writer

The featured performer from the International Elvis Conference will make a stop at Eastern on his world tour to present his "very Vegas" show as part of Latino Heritage Celebration.

El Vez, the "Mexican Elvis," and the Blazers will perform at 8 p.m. today at the Dvorak Concert Hall in the Doudna Fine Arts Building.

"El Vez is universally appealing to all cultures, no matter what your taste is," said Jeff Stepp, concert promoter. "He makes Elvis songs have pro-Latino messages."

El Vez, who is currently on a world tour that will take him to England and South America after his North American tour is finished, was the featured performer at the International Elvis Conference in Memphis, Tenn. He performs with four back-up singers, as well as with instrument back-up.

"All of the back-up singers do choreographed dances and wear costumes. It's very Vegas," Stepp said.

Vernon Chadwick, founder of the International Elvis Conference and an English professor at the University of Mississippi, said "everything I do in the classroom, El Vez does on stage."

El Vez, whose real name is Robert Lopez, said that as a child, he thought Elvis was Mexican, and modeled himself after him.

"(El Vez's) combination of showmanship and charisma almost makes you feel like you are seeing the real Elvis," Stepp said.

The concert, which is co-sponsored by the University Board, has a general admission price of $8 for Eastern students and $10 for the public. In addition to ticket sales at the door, tickets are currently being sold at Positively Fourth St. Records, Dale Bayles, Cellular One, Z's Music and Friends & Co.

You know you're artistic. You know you're creative.

Counseling Center to educate students on eating disorders

By Lauren Kraft
Staff writer

One out of every 100 students become anorexic and between five and 20 become bulimic during their college career.

The Eastern Counseling Center is trying to raise awareness of these problems through a program titled, "Is Someone You Know Dying To Be Thinner?"

The program will be held at 7 p.m. tonight in the Arcola/Tuscola Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

A variety of factors cause college students to turn to eating disorders to lose weight, said Linda Anderson, guest speaker and faculty assistant to the counseling center.

"I think it is a combination of things in this culture. It's on T.V., in magazines and in the newspaper," Anderson said. "It's thin, thin, thin."

Although this subject has been approached numerous times on the Eastern campus, the Counseling Center sees it as an important topic to continuously approach.

"We need to tell it to an audience," Anderson said. "There is always something new to add."

Anderson has her master's degree in psychology and community mental health. She has been employed by Eastern for five years now.

Anderson will approach the topics of eating disorders by describing the symptoms, how to treat them and how to spot them. A friend, boyfriend/girlfriend or family member could be affected by an eating disorder, she said.

der, she said.

According to a pamphlet written by the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana Counseling Center and available in the Eastern Counseling Center, "one out of every 100 women may become anorexic" and "the frequency of bulimia varies from five out of a hundred to 20 out of 100 in college-age women."

Anderson said she hopes this program will help both those who attend and the friends of these people.

The program will be tailored to the people that attend, Anderson said.

The Counseling Center encourages students to also receive counseling on relationships, crisis, career and other traumatic events. The center accepts appointments by phone and in person

Charleston public zoning hearing to listen to petitions

The Charleston Board of Zoning Appeals and Planning tonight will host a public hearing to consider two petitions for variances in the zoning ordinances.

The board will meet at 7 p.m. today in the City Council Chamber on the second floor of the Charleston Municipal Building.

Kirby Johnson, owner of the business at 401 Lincoln Ave., will petition the board to get a zoning variance to add on to the existing building space.

The proposed variance would allow him to add an additional 75 square feet on the west side of the building, Johnson said.

The variance is necessary because Johnson is not able to add additional parking near his business, as required by zoning ordinances.

Clyde and Cheri Sims, 818 Seventh St., are also expected to petition the board for a zoning ordinance with regard to a side-yard setback requirement.

The proposed site for a garage on their property is too close to the adjoining property and a variance would allow them to begin construction.

RHA to 'coffee talk'

The Residence Hall Association tonight will discuss their yearly budget, the Great Lakes Association of College and University Residence Halls Conference and plans for the formation of an on-campus coffee house.

The RHA will meet at 5 p.m. today in the lobby of Taylor Hall.

Colette Guerdet, president of RHA, said members plan to approve the budget for the 1998-99 school year. The proposed budget of $12,000 would help fund RHA meetings and events throughout the year.

They will be taking applications for RHA members who are interested in attending the annual GLACURH conference, which will be held at the University of Michigan this year.

The RHA also will discuss the possibility of an on-campus coffee house.

Guerdet said the meeting will hopefully "help the executive board follow through" with their plans for the coffee house, an alternative to the neighborhood bars.

Drew even impresses McGwire with home run swing

ST. LOUIS (AP) - So far, J.D. Drew is outperforming the home run king.

The St. Louis Cardinals' first-round draft pick couldn't have asked for a better start in the majors. He hit three homers in his first eight games, one more than a suitably impressed Mark McGwire.

Two of them came on successive at-bats in the third and fifth inning of the first game of a doubleheader Tuesday against Pittsburgh.

McGwire was one of the first to greet him each time.

"I told him I'm happy to get a home run in his first career two-homer game," McGwire said after hitting No. 63 as a pinch hitter.

"I'm serious. This kid is talented, and I don't think anybody has really seen what he can do yet."

Drew, 22, was reserved about beating McGwire at his own game.

"I don't think that's going to last very long," he said.

In his first 20 at-bats, Drew was having almost as much success against major league pitching as he enjoyed at Florida State or the minor leagues. He was batting .350 with seven RBIs, five runs scored and two doubles.

He had a big day against the Pirates on Tuesday, with solo homers measured at 405 and 421 feet in the first game and a pair of doubles in the second game. Playing left field, he also threw out a runner at the plate for an inning-ending double play in the second game.

"I don't know how many millions they gave him," Pirates manager Gene Lamont said. "But I can see why they did."

Drew was booed during the Cardinals' recent trips to Cincinnati and Houston by fans who remember his season-long holdout last year rather than sign with the Phillies.

Runners prepare for only home meet

By Todd Schreiber
Staff writer

It is always nice to come back home, no matter what you are doing and no matter where you have been.

Most students think that coming home from Charleston is the best thing for them, but for the Eastern cross country teams, it is coming back to Charleston which makes them feel at home.

The cross country teams will participate in the Eastern Illinois Open, their only home meet this season at 10:30 a.m. Saturday. Having only one or two home meets a season gets the runners charged up for the ones at home, according to coach John McInerney.

Eastern has fared well in its home meets during McInerney's nine years in the cross country program. This year will mark the fifth season in which McInerney has coached both the men's and women's teams.

Last season's open brought the toughest competition to Charleston, according to McInerney. Teams that participated included the University of Illinois and Southern Illinois-Carbondale. Big Ten teams such as Indiana and Purdue have participated in the past, as well as more familiar teams such as Indiana State, Western Illinois and Bradley.

Last year, the men's team wound up sixth out of 12 teams, while the Lady Panthers finished an impressive second out of 10.

The individual runners have run well overall, although no Panther runner has won a home event since 1996 when Justin Weiss and Todd Moroney finished 1-2 in the second home meet.

That season also marked the best overall home season for the Panthers. The women's team finished second out of nine in the first meet and third out of nine in the second meet.

The men's team was the last to win a home meet at Eastern when they out-ran seven other teams to win the first meet. They then finished second to Purdue in the final meet of that year.

"The home meet is always something the kids look forward to," McInerney said regarding returning to Charleston.

Men's volleyball look to stay close

Tryouts for team conclude Sunday

Kristin Rojek
Staff writer

The possibilities are endless for the men's volleyball team as tryouts finish up on Thursday and the team will begin to build their foundation for the season.

As each player starts to get back into the swing of things, new players continue to finish up their tryouts, which began Sunday.

There are a few really strong freshman joining the Panthers this year, which will play an important role in the rebuilding of the team. The strength of the team will be key in competition as well as in practices.

The club is looking to play more games this year than last and hope for victories among some of the larger schools, such as Illinois and Illinois State that get more financial support from their school.

So far the returning players are looking good and have maintained an injury-free and healthy off-season. The team has lost three players from last year, two of which were starters.

"We have a young team this year, but we are looking for a great season," said Senior co-captain Matt Tillman.

The players will bring to this year's team many of the strong points it formed from last year. They are very team-oriented and communication has always been a necessity on the court.

"Over the years the players have all been close as a team," Tillman said.

"This year we're going to work on keeping that."

Volleyball seniors receive OVC honors

Seniors are supposed to be the nucleus of the team. They are expected to lead the team and use their valuable experience to teach the younger players. Panther seniors Sherry Austin and Missy Hollenkamp did that just and were rewarded for their efforts.

Hollenkamp was named Ohio Valley Conference Offensive Player of the Week while her teammate, Austin, was named OVC Co-Defensive Player of the Week.

Hollenkamp lead the Panther offense in the victory over Morehead State by recording 25 kills and 21 digs, marking the second time in her career that she reached 20-kill, 20-dig club.

"It is a great honor. It proves that they are watching us. It shows that we are there," Hollenkamp said.

In two conference matches, the senior recorded 30 kills, 23 digs, six block assists and one service ace.

"Missy has been up and down all year. She was disappointed when she was out of the lineup. She was asking what she had to do," Panther head coach Betty Ralston said. "Offense has never been her problem. She is very deserving. She was one of the mainstays in the match against Morehead State."

While Hollenkamp has been busy on the offensive end, Austin has done her part on defense. The middle hitter improved on her team leading 1.3 blocks per game by coming up with one solo block and five assisted in the weekend set. "This is really good for her. She has really worked on her blocking. Now she is making a good effort. She has stepped it up this fall," Ralston said.

In two OVC matches, Austin has racked up 30 total blocks, more than halfway to her 1997 total of 54.

Austin also did her part over the weekend to help out the offense by scoring 18 kills, two assists and one dig.

Meeting expectations:

The OVC preseason number one is trying to live up to its expectations and has been doing a good job as of late. Tennessee Tech has improved its overall record to 6-2 by finishing 3-1 in the Kent State Invitational.

The Eagles dropped the first match to eventual champion Dayton, but quickly regrouped to win the next three over Cleveland State, Connecticut and host Kent State.

The Tech defense was led by Meredith Ferlic who recorded 60 digs over the weekend. The senior also added 10 service aces, five blocks and 27 kills. Ferlic became the newest member of Tech's 1,000 dig club. She now stands at 1,025 for her career.

The Eagles open up conference play on the road as they meet Southeast Missouri State before traveling to Charleston to face Eastern.

Still winless:

The Murray State Racers remained winless in the young 1998 season after coming up short in the Louisville International Tournament.

The Racers, 0-5 overall, opened up the tournament with a loss to Moscow CSA, before losing to 16th ranked Michigan State the following morning.

MSU's tough start can be largely attributed to the difficult schedule. The Racers can boast that they are playing the nation's 11th strongest schedule.

MSU will be searching for its first win as it opens up conference play at home against Tennessee State.

-compiled by Kyle Bauer

Skid

Senior Jessica Powers already has six goals and three assists on the season.

Illinois State is also on the move as it is now 3-2 on the season. They have won three in a row after starting 0-2 this year. This is the first time in ISU women's soccer history that the team is above the .500 mark. Last year the Redbirds only scored 10 goals, they have scored seven thus far in 1998. Goalie Becky Feldman is second in the MVC with 0.86 GAA.

MVC—Early Losers:

Top preseason pick Evansville is off to a slow start going 1-2-1 over its first four games. They picked up their first victory of the season last Friday with a 4-2 win over Detroit.

Newcomer Arkansas-Little Rock

has struggled early this season. A pair of losses to Belmont and Drury dropped the Trojans to 1-4 on the season. Junior Leslie Hawkins has been the bright spot on the offense as she has a 1.40 PPG average. Junior Angela Hoffman and senior Jennifer Ley were named to the all-tournament team at the UALR Invitational.

OVC—Who's Hot:

Tennessee Tech has taken an early 2-0 lead in the OVC standings after beating Eastern and Tennessee-Martin 1-0 in its opening two matches. Senior goalkeeper Holly Wildman leads the OVC with a 0.75 GAA. She was named OVC Player of the Week last week after posting a pair of shutouts against Tennessee-Martin and Eastern. Tech's two wins already match the school record for victories.

Middle Tennessee improved to 2-3 overall by winning two of three matches last week. They are 0-1 in the OVC. Freshman Hailee Walsh scored a school-record three goals in a win over Cumberland and tallied two assists in a win over Jacksonville State. Walsh leads the OVC in scoring (2.0 pg) and goals (0.80 pg).

OVC—Who's Not:

Morehead State is struggling after opening the season 0-3 overall. Sophomore Jessica McAnnar scored the first goal in the program's history against UTM, she was assisted by Amber Burley. Junior goalkeeper Jennifer Gordon leads the OVC with 12.0 saves per game. Tennessee-Martin may be 1-1 in the OVC but it just received its first win in school history Saturday with a victory over Morehead State. Tennessee-Martin is 1-3 on the season.

Men's golf takes 13th

If the Drury Intercollegiate Golf Tournament is any indication of how the Ohio Valley Conference season will go for the men's golf team, it will be a long season.

In the tournament held Monday and Tuesday at Cape Girardeau, Mo. Eastern finished the tournament with a team score of 917, as it finished ahead of Chicago State which finished with a team score of 1,089.

There were six other Ohio Valley Conference teams competing at the tournament, including host Southeast Missouri which finished second in the tournament with a team score of 863.

Morehead State finished right behind the Indians, as it finished in third place with a team score of 865. Taking fourth place in the tournament were the Governors from Austin Peay with a team score of 879.

Tennessee State and Murray State finished sixth and seventh respectively in the tournament, while the final OVC team, Tennessee-Martin took the 10th position.

For the Panthers, the top finisher was Eddie Larson who finished in a six-way tie for 36th place. Larson fired three rounds in the 70s to finish with an total score of 228.

Taking the 42nd spot for the Panthers was Tom Moore, who shot a final round 75 to finish with a 229. Coming in right behind Moore in 45th place was Blake Kearney, who had two rounds of 76 for a total score of 230. Four other golfers from the OVC tied with Kearney for the 45th spot.

Creighton defeated St. Louis, but lost to Southern Methodist for its first loss of the season ... Senior Richard Mulrooney is tied for the

MVC all-time assist lead with 36. Stonewall:

Vanderbilt goalkeeper Mike Fach was named MVC Defensive Player of the Week after posting two wins for the 3-1 Commodores.

Fach is fourth in the league in goals against average, but leads the conference with a 5.75 saves per game average... Playing overtime against Vandy has proven to be a curse, as the Commodores have won two games this season in the extra session, and hasn't lost an OT game since September 20, 1996.

Role-reversal:

After winning five games all of last season, Western Kentucky is off to a 3-2 start.

The offense is getting it done for the Hilltoppers, as sophomore Chris Lloyd leads the conference with a 2.25 points per game average... The Hilltoppers have 15 games remaining to break the five win plateau.

Wide-spread:

The Purple Aces of Evansville have scored a total of seven goals on the season, six of them coming by different players.

Evansville's depth hasn't only been contributed by the upperclassmen, as two players have scored their first career points ... Evansville will use the weekend as a measuring stick as the Purple Aces take on St. Louis on Friday.

DePaul no match for Panther spikers

Panther freshman outside hitter Kim DeMage follows through on a spike as senior outside hitter Missy Hollenkamp looks on during the Panthers three-game win over DePaul. Eastern improved its record to 5-2 and continue the home string this week when it faces defending Ohio Valley Conference champion Tennessee Tech on Friday and Middle Tennessee on Saturday.

Eastern wins in three over Blue Demons

The pattern seemed to be the same throughout the entire match. Eastern would jump out to an early lead and then let DePaul back into it before putting the game away, but in the end Eastern came out on top.

The Panther volleyball team earned its third straight victory Wednesday night as it defeated the Blue Demons easily in three games, 15-10, 15-12 and 15-6.

"We played in lapses. It seemed like it was 9-5 every game and then we would let them get back into the game," Panther head coach Betty Ralston said. "But it was a much easier match that I thought it would be. I know that I have seen DePaul play better, but we will take the win."

Eastern (5-2) notched the victory even though it was not overly dominant on the offensive end. Missy Hollenkamp and Meleah Cutler finished with a team high 13 kills a piece. The steady improvement of the defense was the difference.

"We are getting touches," Ralston said. "We didn't serve a whole bunch of aces, but we got our hands on enough balls to make it easy. We are not a big team, so all we ask our blockers to do is get hands on the ball."

The other thing the Panthers were able to do was keep Blue Demon senior standout Kathleen Ryan relatively quiet all night.

"We really exploited their passing," Ralston said. "We have seen Ryan do a ton of damage. She wasn't pounding the ball like she has. We have seen her kill teams before. They just couldn't set her."

Eastern will be looking to the momentum that it had picked up throughout the last week to carry them into the weekend.

"We were excited after last weekend, it really boosted our spirits," Hollenkamp said. "We have a lot of work to do before Friday. We really need to focus on that match. They beat us in the championship game last year."

Eastern now finds itself in a tough spot. The already tired team will have to go several days before they will get a day off. "They need to get through this worst span. We have 12 more days. There is really no let up," Ralston said.

Quarterback question still up in the air

Odam and Buich battling for starting nod against Northern

By Matt Wilson
Sports editor

It's three days before the matchup against Northern Illinois, and Panther head football coach Bob Spoo still hasn't made a starting quarterback decision.

Sophomore Jeb Odam played the entire game against St. Joseph's and started the game against Central Florida last Saturday. But with 5:37 to go in the third quarter Spoo made a move and now he has a decision to make.

Spoo brought in sophomore quarterback Anthony Buich to play the rest of the game. Under the direction of Buich, the Panther offense began moving the ball. Although he was unable to march the Panthers into the end zone, Buich did complete seven passes for 36 yards.

During his two and a half quarters of play, Odam went 5-for-13 for 32 yards and threw an interception.

Buich said it is not uncommon to have a quarterback controversy in only the third game of the season.

"This can happen any time," he said. "It could happen in the first, second or third game, you just can't tell. We both have to be on our toes at all times."

on me and let me choke. But he doesn't do that, so he's a good guy."

Spoo liked what he saw Buich do, so all week the Odam and Buich have been playing hard trying to get the starting nod against the Huskies.

Spoo said the answer to the quarterback controversy will not be answered until closer to game time.

Even with his starting job on the line, Odam has still been really helpful to his competitor.

"Jeb is a great guy and you really have to feel bad for him," Buich said. "He's there to help me when he could have just shut the door

"It won't be until a couple of days until we make the decision," he said. "That's a good thing because they're competing and playing hard in practice. It's hard to know because what's on the line, so I will make a decision later in the week."

The bad thing about this whole controversy is the quarterbacks have no say in who is going to get the starting job.

"It's out of our hands right now," Odam said. Odam declined to comment any further on the subject.

Odam could have very well just let Buich take the job and not help him along at all, but Buich said Odam has not been doing this.

"Basically since the beginning of camp we've been working hard and helping each other out," Buich said.

Men's soccer remains ranked Eastern's men's soccer team was regionally ranked for the second consecutive week. The Panther's entered the week ranked fifth in the Midwest Region. Eastern is joined by conference members Creighton, second, Bradley, fourth, and Southwest Missouri, eighth, respectively.

Over the weekend the Panthers competed in the Holiday Inn Centre Classic hosted by Bradley.

Despite winning both games Eastern participated in, the Panthers finished in second place. Host Bradley won the tournament on the first tie-breaker, goals against. Eastern allowed two goals and the Braves only allowed one.

Waguespack. Titledown:

With two tournament titles, in as many weeks, Bradley has the second best winning percentage in the conference. The Braves are on a five-game unbeaten streak, the second longest in the nation this season ... Freshman Gavin Glinton was named the MVC Offensive Player of the Week. Glinton was honored as the MVP of the Holiday Inn tour-

Three Eastern players earned all-tournament honors: defenseman Matt Bobo, midfielder Mike Czarnecki and goalkeeper Ryan Glinton where he scored three goals in two games. Glinton is leading the conference in points, and is averaging two points a game ... Braves junior Stephen Wylie is tied for sixth in the nation in average assists per game with one.

Milestone:

With a 6-1 win Saturday over Florida International, Creighton coach Bret Simon recorded his 50th career win at the helm for the Blue Jays. Simon's career record at Creighton in four years is 50-14-14 ... The Blue Jays ranked 12th in the nation have competed against two nationally ranked teams this season resulting in a split decision.

Panther women in middle of one of longest losing skids

Three tough 1-0 losses in a row have left the women's soccer team with a 2-3 record heading into the weekend Ohio Valley Conference match-up on Saturday with Tennessee-Martin. The Panthers are 1-1 in the OVC, and Missouri Valley action has not yet begun.

Tennessee Tech, Western and Loyola of Chicago have all blanked the Panthers in recent action. This is Eastern's longest losing streak since the beginning of last season when they opened 0-3.

Eastern took a combined 37 shots last weekend against Western and Loyola but could not find the back of the net.

Senior Amy Koudelka leads the Panthers with two goals.

Defensively the Panthers have been sound with sophomore goalkeeper Jeanine Fredrick being named MVC Defensive Player of the Week last week. Currently she ranks fourth in the MVC and second in the OVC with 1.06 GAA.

MVC—Early Winners:

MVC action is yet to get underway but surprises are abound. Creighton has jumped out to an early lead in the overall record spot. They are currently 4-1 with leaders in almost every statistical category.
